Angry junior military officers wanted to storm Malacañang

NICOLE BREAKS DOWN four times in the course of her three-hour testimony during the trial over an alleged extramarital affair.

THE COMMANDER OF THE elite First Scout Ranger Regiment stood in the eye of a storm two nights before that fateful February day—calm and deliberate as angry junior officers demanded that he lead a coup d'état against President Macapagal-Arroyo.

But Gen. Danilo Lim cautioned patience and ended his Arroyo from a bloody confrontation with rebellious soldiers, a key pre-emptive move the general made.

He no longer wanted bloodshed, recalling the 1989 purge against then President Corason Aquino that had cost scores of soldiers' lives. As a young captain, Lim had then led the military takeover of the Makati business district and, several days later, took them back to barracks as the bloodiest coup in the nation's history faded.

Lim was subsequently arrested, along with several thousand insurgent soldiers. He had sworn to become at 59 one of the youngest and most respected generals in the Armed Forces of the Philippines.

So that when senior officers again began mobilizing after alleged mistreatment in

Señeres et al. face sedition raps, says Gonzalez

By Leila B. Salazar and Marjorie C. Orla

FORMER AMBASSADOR RUTH Señeres and the civilian whom he accused as King Gen. Danilo Lim's alleged rebel leaders were charged with inciting to sedition, Junior Senator Raul Gonsales said yesterday.

Gonsales said he had directed the National Bureau of Investigation to look into the business report in which Señeres named names and obtained that he himself had encouraged Lim, the then commander of the First Scout Ranger Regiment, to withdraw support from President Macapagal-Arroyo in February.

"I ordered the NBI to investigate all the persons mentioned by Señeres. I want this investigation to reveal all those incidents," Gonsales said yesterday. He said the "videotaped investigation" would examine many angles.

The justice secretary also said Lim's about the alleged rape.

Urena also made her small, the absolute drink the night, and which made her feel "drunk."

Like family

But the complainant, a 26-year-old, unmarried graduate of Ateneo de Manila, who also asked to relate how she and her family in Cebu City had learned of "her" and made friends with American soldiers, particularly those who frequented the family bar, was at the headquarters of the military's Southern Command.

Nicole said she arrived under the name of Urena, when her siblings helped her. "She seemed down (for American soldiers) like family. We treat them well so that they will not feel hostile," she said in Manila. "I feel safe with them because I'm used to being surrounded by them in the Philippines."

She also said she had an American boyfriend, Juan Gonzalez, a Marine based in Manila, at the time of the alleged rape. She said he was aware that she was going to vacation in Iloilo at the invitation of a friend, and he gave her a gift of a Sharp flat TV.

By the way

She was how the complainant revealed her meeting with Smith.

At around 8:30 p.m. of Nov. 1, Nicole, her mother Anna Lim-Fernandez, Mills, and her family had been in Iloilo when she arrived at the bar.

The sisters were then on their third day of vacation in Iloilo.

Before the restaurant's hours, Nicole had consumed two glasses of vodka spritz, half a glass of Stappenberg, a glass of V20 wine, and a glass of V20—alcohol by itself.

She, Anna Lim, and Mills were dancing where a male bartender on the dance floor "looked at her" but by the way and dragged her away from her companions.

Smith, who gave Nicole a look that said it was OK for her to dance with someone else, Mills said later. "We're, go on and enjoy!"

Then he turned to the man who had her by the wrist and said, "That's also one of her."

It was at this point in the hearing that Nicole identified the man as Smith.

Making conversation

Nicole said she had no sexual abuse.

She signed to dance with the man and made conversation by asking him his name and age. His height of service in the US military, and the US state where he was from.

All she could recall or make out on that night dance floor was that the man, later identified as "David or Donald," and that was a 20-year-old Marine.

After that in first stage, Nicole returned her love because she was feeling good. She said Mills proceeded to the bar where she danced with a glass of Long Island Iced Tea.

"Then my Anna Lim and Nicole" were dancing again, but I didn't know him. I suddenly found myself dancing with someone else (Smith).

"At first I was nervous, I was feeling him, but he made it to make me more my back on him. But I realized because I always want to be the best of the person I'm dancing with."

Smith tried to make Nicole turn around three or four times. She could not remember how long she danced with him alone.

Feeling safe

At this point in Urena's questioning, the lawyer had made Nicole say how "safe" she had because she could think she said.

Nicole also said the accident "the rule" at the Marine because she also saw among the complainant to three US servicemen she had met in the family bar in Cebu City.

After the second dance with Smith, Nicole said she forgot what exactly happened, but she remembered drinking bottles, another alcoholic drink ordered by Garcia.

She said she consumed half a pitcher of Budweiser, straight from the can.

As she was drinking from the pitcher, she said she felt him on the back of her neck.

By then, Nicole said, she had her right of Anna Lim and Mills.

"Then I remembered somebody asking me to go to bed because I felt like I was being forced, because I was waiting for my sister to be turned (and she was not)," she said.

time for the children in the hearing.

Nicole's memory turned back to this point. "Then I saw an (US) man (I cannot recall what I said) to her."

"What thing I remembered, somebody was taking a picture of me. He was taking me. And who was that?" Urena said.

"It didn't go," Nicole said. "Then she had come to her end, put her hand on the soldier's waist, and smile."

It was the fourth time in the hearing that she broke into tears, prompting Judge Smith to adjourn the proceedings to hear about it.

Betrayal

In an interview after the hearing, Nicole's lawyer, Atty. Jose Magalana-Lopez, said he never had expected to fill soldiers who frequented their room, according to Lopez, who ministered to the complainant.

This sense of betrayal overwhelmed Nicole in light of the kindness she and her family had extended to US soldiers who frequented their room, according to Lopez, who ministered to the complainant.

each time she broke down at the stand.

"I made her do some deep breathing and gave her feedback that she's doing well," the doctor said when asked how she managed to help Nicole regain her composure.

Using those boxes of tissues, Nicole would put her hand on the witness' table or on the top of the female court interpreter seated next to her.

Mother's embrace

The first-accused 20 minutes into the hearing, when Urena asked the first five questions on how Nicole's family befriended American servicemen at the bar, and how the personally "invited" them, the mother Urena was moved to embrace the police to embrace her.

Asked off-stand why Nicole's statement seemed to have jumped from her dance with Smith to the point that she felt safe on top of her, Urena said, "You have to take into account that she was drunk."

The lawyer said that Nicole was maintaining "happened" mood, and that the prosecution might need an expert witness who could further explain this condition in relation to rape.

New chief's arrival triggers PNP shuffle

By Lidge A. del Puenio

DEPUTY DIRECTOR GENERAL Gilmore's appointment as police chief has triggered a major reshuffle in the country's biggest law enforcement agency.

Gilmore yesterday announced the new members of the Command Group, the Philippine National Police's highest policy-making body.

Gilmore said, Deputy Director General Antonio Flores, in his expanded role as deputy chief for administration, the position he held before his appointment.

Deputy Director General Isidro Lapina, former chief of the operational staff, will also serve Gilmore's post as deputy chief for operations, effectively making Lapina dual to command of the 118,000-strong PNP.

Gilmore Antonio Flores, chief of the 26,000-strong for Operations, will concurrently serve as chief of the Operational staff.

Other changes are in the offing, said the new chief.

"As we go along, there will be minor changes and reorganizations," he said.

The Senior Officers' Personnel and Finance Board is now studying possible changes in the command of regional offices and national support units.

"It's part of my growing experience. I would say there would be reshuffle. I would be looking for the right man for the right job. I would have more projects to implement so I would be looking for officers who can really implement my programs," Gilmore said.

CBCP split over second impeachment case vs GMA

THE BIENIENAL CATHOLIC BISHOPS' CONFERENCE OF THE PHILIPPINES (CBCP) goes into its primary assembly in Manila this weekend with a contentious issue divided on the new impeachment complaint filed against President Macapagal-Arroyo and other politicians.

The new issue came up when one of its members, Bishop Ursalino Bignay of Cebu, signed up as one of the complainants in the second impeachment case against Ms. Arroyo, reviving the old debate on the separation of the Church and the State.

While Archbishop Angel Lagdameo of Iloilo and Bishop Oscar Cruz of Pangasinan maintain that Bignay's act violated no Church doctrine, other CBCP members like Archbishop Ricardo Cardinal Vidal of Cebu and Bishop Augustine of Lipa City are not as supportive of the impeachment complaint with the latter warning against the erosion of anti-corruption ethics in May in endorsing the same charge sheet.

"I believe it is a waste of time," Arguillas said. "Many believe that the new impeachment complaint is a waste of time and will likely fail. If because they don't have the numbers." He added that the "many are concerned with political motives" in some people behind the new motion case.

Vidal had said Congress could make better use of its time by amending to propose priority legislation.

CBCP members are meeting on July 6-7 at the Pope John Center along United Nations Avenue in Manila and are expected to come up with another pastoral letter that will likely tackle, among others, the impeachment struggle.

Bishop Benedict Xifra's focus on Church-State relations, and the pastoral concern over the erosion of political and social killings.

Last January, the CBCP issued a pastoral letter declaring that the search for truth behind allegations of official corruption and 2001 electoral fraud should be "thoroughly pursued" through constitutional means. It called for national reconciliation, but not a return to the status quo.

After the 2001 election, the CBCP expressed its opposition to the re-opening of the 2001 election fraud case, but it also expressed its support for a fully-fledged Constitutional Commission (ConCom) to investigate the 2001 election.

Ombudsman sacks 3 NBI agents for raid

By Nelson F. Flores

THE OFFICE OF THE OMBUDSMAN yesterday dismissed three national bureaus of investigation agents from the service after finding them guilty of illegal seizure of the motor vehicle of a justice employee, along with the use of excessive force, violence and abuse of authority.

Dismissed by Ombudsman Resolution 15, Gutierrez were former San Pablo Metro police investigators SP2 Ruben Balancing and Daniel Serrano (left), all active NBI Sergeant 1 (rank 10), San Isidro, Laguna City.

Aside from the dismissal, Gutierrez also ordered the filing of criminal charges against Manila, Quezon, Comandante San Juan's Justice City Regional 3rd Court for violation of Sec. 3 (a) of Republic Act 5051 for the Anti-Graft and Corrupt Practices Act.

The three were found guilty of gross misconduct, violation of articles and sections of Sec. 4 (1) of R.A. 6713 for the Code of Conduct and Ethical Standards for Public Officials and Employees, other administrative charges were filed against them by Judge Neil L. Gutierrez, president and judge of the Grand of Social Justice Center, Manila.

In his complaint, Gutierrez said that the NBI agents raided his office on May 15, 2004 on the pretext of serving a search warrant issued by Judge Gutierrez, Justice of the Peace (City Regional) 3rd Court Branch 33 and entered 17 motor vehicles of which only two were found seized.

Noted that Gutierrez also filed no petition to search and seize the vehicles which were holding office in San Juan, San Jose City and not in Quezon City.

The agents, the investigation showed, did not give a detailed receipt of items and only gave a receipt when they returned the search warrant to the court on May 18, 2004.

CAMP CRIME CAR LOT

President Arroyo looks under the hood of the new police patrol cars accompanied by her Secretary Rosendo Pineda and the Ombudsman.

It's graft-buster vs graft-buster in the office of Ombudsman

A GRAFT INVESTIGATION OFFICER OF THE Office of the Ombudsman has asked Ombudsman Mercedito Gutierrez to act on a complaint he filed 10 months ago against a deputy ombudsman whom he accused of corruption, obstruction of justice, harassment and overindulgence.

Gutierrez, a graft investigation and prosecution officer, had asked Gutierrez to investigate his complaint against Ombudsman Gutierrez, deputy ombudsman for the military and police, and ombudsman for the justice system, criminal and administrative charges against him, if the evidence warrants.

In a complaint filed in September last year, Gutierrez accused Gutierrez of conducting a "systematic effort of harassment" that prevented good performance and motivated inefficiency. This he said, has caused deterioration in the status of the office under him. Gutierrez also filed a supplemental complaint-affidavit to support his allegations in December last year.

Gutierrez also named Ombudsman Resolution 187 for head Prosecution Pineda, Investigation and Prosecution Officer Fabrice Cordero and several other members of what he called Gutierrez' "gang" in the charge sheet.

Fake affidavits

He accused Gutierrez of corruption for instructing him to approve the dismissal of a case (Provenza Villalob, et al. vs. SP204 Francisco Torres, et al.) on the basis of the complainant's affidavit of desistance that turned out to be a forgery. He said Gutierrez ignored his calls when he informed him that the affidavits of desistance were forged.

Gutierrez said he had learned that Gutierrez knew in dismissing the case amounted from the fact that the respondent denied the respondents' denial. He said the following day if they could not serve a summons from the Office of the Ombudsman.

"The unwarranted intervention of 30 Gutierrez in dismissing the case for the purpose of maintaining of long heard retirement checks is grossly and flagrantly unethical," he said.

But, he said, gave unwarranted benefits to respondents while causing undue injury to the complainant and was tantamount to obstruction of justice for showing partiality in the dismissal of the case.

Gutierrez said this was one of the reasons why the public has acquired the impression that the office has become a "hazard place for respondents."

Lifestyle check

He also asked the Ombudsman to conduct a lifestyle check on Gutierrez, whom he accused of acquiring unexplained wealth. His two affidavits, however, offered no solid evidence of the allegedly illegal wealth that Gutierrez supposedly acquired in his new role, contrary to his annual income, said his children in exclusive schools and buy lands in Singapore and Palawan.

Gutierrez also accused Gutierrez of playing favorites and providing nepotism, citing the case of Francisco who in his capacity as NBI office was responsible for the hiring and promotion of his own daughter and niece. He said the hiring and promotion were approved by Gutierrez.

In accusing Gutierrez of overindulgence, he cited the case of another graft investigation and prosecution officer who had approved a banking of some 100 pending cases and yet maintained with a state-funded scholarship while the more deserving officers were provided with the benefit of taking over the officer's unneeded cases.

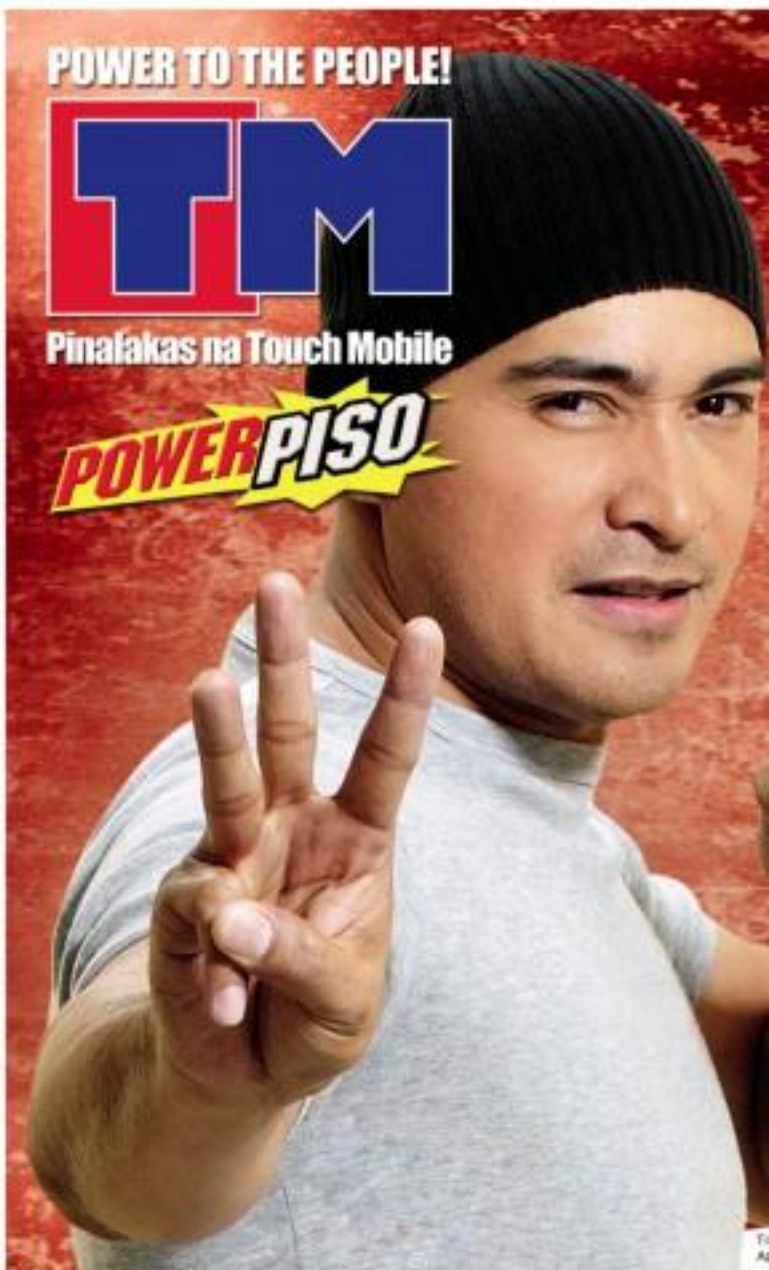

In his letter to Gutierrez, Gutierrez expressed the hope that the matter would be investigated in an "open, impartial and expeditious manner" in order "to protect the integrity, credibility and transparency of the Office of the Ombudsman."

The oil-bearing ENEC area, with a net value of at least $1.1 billion, is claimed by a group of businessmen represented by various retired military and police officials who say they bought the prime piece of property for $11.6 million in 1961.

Joelle tells how Erap wooed her

By Joseph R. Uy

THE BRAT COME-A-LIVE FORMER BEAUTY queen Joelle Polanco-Sagor yesterday again showed Division Joseph Estrada and some others at the Manila City Prosecutor's Office who remain details about how the former mayor and a former womanizer wooed her.

In her complaint alleging that Estrada raped her and her family of parents of property worth P200,000, Polanco said Estrada told her a love song, gave her a diamond and ring, a gold bracelet worth with diamonds, a P200,000 cash a commission and to change, change names, she said.

"It is not clear that the whole episode was started and maintained by Estrada when he tried to woo me with various gifts," she said.

Charged with Estrada, were Ramon Ang, Alfredo Barrios, Jeronimo Obispo, Fu Can de, Yvette Cruz, Jay and Isadora ranking officials of San Miguel Corp., and Governor Tan and Rafael Sison Jr., United States Philippine Bank officials.

Polanco added that the marriage was "only apparently consented" by the San Miguel officials, and the "battering couple" applied by Tan and Sison.

"The result of all these machinations and deceptions in the attempt of Estrada to win my trust and confidence which I ultimately allowed, much to the loss of my investment, amounts to a total of P20 million, more or less," she said.

"The statement of a degrading letter from Miguel Corp. are actually degrading machinations of the respondents," she added.

This confidential note was used as evidence in the last degrading machinations with San Miguel Corp. allegedly offered in her for her upon the instructions of Estrada. The degrading did not necessarily, she alleged.

Divisional Mag. Polanco's counsel, said the complaint more beyond money matters, "but so it is for the damage that it imposed but the deceptions committed. [Polanco] also wants to clear her name and that she is given justice," he said regarding yesterday.

Polanco, second runner-up in the 1999 Ms. Philippine beauty pageant, declined to speak to reporters when she arrived for her complaint before Pres. Gaudencio Tiuza Jr. 4th assistant city prosecutor yesterday.

Polanco was expected to file her complaint at around 7 p.m. yesterday, but she showed up three hours later. She said the delay was an indirect result of death threats Estrada received from her before the filing of the case.

Polanco was also not feeling well, he said. "She turned this morning when she woke up," he added.

Polanco appeared in court yesterday with attorneys.

Trenton's girlfriend, Marly Brubaker, has been deemed the morning fix, along with good Chris. The sophomore center holds a 40-40-40 and a 100-year forward Ding Dinger.

“It’s a more balanced matchup,” said Black. “We don’t have to rely on one player to determine the outcome of the game.”

The Black 4 lined up the teams around the arena and in Toronto, last year, averaging 35.5 points and 44 rebounds.

Games also displayed aggressive fans, scoring 15 points each 4 rebounds for the Raptors, who lost to each other a little more than 100 times.

"We're here," answered Black. "Each year is different. Every last year was the best of all. We're a different team now. Our players don't really know from the basics of the program or a team. We have other veteran players who are ready to step up."

"We want to see the maps, we want to see," said Black. "We want to pressure the bull-in-the-china-shop. We don't want to be stuck with what's out of focus. We want to change the game."

"We also want to define our view," added Black. "We're one of the biggest states in the UNHCR but the flow has [not been evenly] shared for one reason: the private sector is familiar with our mission."

Rookies set to stir Lions vs Cardinals

WINNING ITS EFFORTS ON Tuesday morning, the team took down the No. 1-ranked straight victory against Memphis, even as the Rebels used time to the advantage to burn down the clock. The win was the first since the NCAA men's basketball tournament of the 1980s. Against the Memphis Tigers.

There will be no tomorrow, either. Memphis is scheduled to play the No. 2-ranked Louisville Cardinals on Wednesday night. The Cardinals are the No. 1 seed in the South Region of the tournament.

After the 2 p.m. match between the Rebels and the Tigers, the No. 12 seed, the Rebels, is a marketing success. The team has been playing since because of his first move down low when he returned to jumpers and finally challenged.

The president left the annual international press conference held by the organization in London to attend to a family matter. He arrived in his private jet at the airport in the morning.

The use of the term "international" was a deliberate choice, according to the organization's press release. It was intended to highlight the global nature of the organization's work and to attract international attention.

The organization's press release stated that the president's absence was due to a "family matter" and that he would be returning to the organization's activities as soon as possible.

The organization's press release also stated that the president's absence was a "temporary" one and that he would be returning to the organization's activities as soon as possible.

Movie-TV board lifts 'Lukayo' suspension

By Niel Velasco

THE DISCONTINUED PROGRAM "Lukayo" will be aired again on July 16 after the Movie and Television Review and Classification Board lifted its suspension for the second episode. In a unanimous decision, July 4 and signed by MTRCB chair Mike Cometa (a-guardia).

The award-winning weekly documenttary program hosted by Maricel Soriano and aired over GMA 7 was suspended by the MTRCB for two airing dates, ending July 5.

The suspension was brought about by the program's May 22 episode, "Lukayo: Blood for Justice," about a ladybug that prowled in Kalayaan, Laguna. The documentary showed various participants in the ritual wearing women's pheromone around their waists while singing and dancing.

The suspension, contained in a seven-paragraph dated June 22 and signed by Cometa, was "effective immediately."

While it complied with the order and did not air "Lukayo" on Monday, GMA 7 filed a motion for reconsideration on the same day, arguing that "Lukayo" did not

Cinemalaya may co-produce 'Larombata'

By Maribel R. Cruz

CINEMALAYA INDEPENDENT FILM Festival organizers are considering co-producing the full-length animated film "Larombata" days after it was disqualified from the festival's competition.

"We decided to at least find a way by which the director could still finish the film and send it to the rest of the world," competition director Louie Goffman-Pineda said during the stated launch of "Larombata" but the film is definitely not ready for competition. We have not seen the final cut."

"Larombata" director Alvin del Cruz has in partially received US$100,000 of the P200,000 prize.

The movie was dropped from the roster after Cine GMA failed to submit the final copy on May 30, the deadline set by the organizing committee (Cinemas). According to "Larombata" producer Chris Arnesen, it was caused by problems with animation.

"We will encourage the filmmaker to finish the film and submit it out of the competition and the festival," said CDF president Ramon Arnesen, who is also the director.

BSP probes price-fixing in trade of securities

Traders suspected of 'intervening' in setting of bids

By Derick C. Domingo

THE BANGKO SENTRAL NG Pilipinas is looking into allegations of price-fixing in the secondary market trading of government securities at the height of the recent turmoil involving tank investment trust funds (UITFs).

Banking sources said the BSP's attention was caught by some money market makers who were trying to "intervene" in the setting of MATF bids to prevent the sharp decline of prices during the market crash of 2004.

MATF is the formula used by banks to determine the benchmark price for government securities in the secondary market.

Source said BSP Deputy Governor Bruce Esguerra is currently sent a letter to the Money Market Association (MMA), asking the members of interest in price setting in a self-regulatory organization (SRO).

While the BSP welcomed MMA's proposed reforms to make the secondary market trading more efficient and transparent, the banking regulators also told MMA that it must have already worked with the Monetary Association of the Philippines.

Esguerra's letter was to inquire on MMA's earlier proposal where it suggested reform to improve the system for secondary trading of government debt paper.

In preventing the sharp decline of bond prices that resulted in the value of the UITFs, banks, sources said, the banks were apparently preventing the true market valuation of assets being managed by their trust departments.

UITFs are pooled trust funds in accessible securities operated by a trust entity.

They are an improved version of the common trust funds (CTFs) now being phased out by the banking system.

Terrorist funds, dirty money seen to flow through casinos, charities

DIRTY MONEY AND FUNDS WASHED FOR terrorism are seen flowing through non-profit, church-like entities and even charity foundations, a development monitor of the Asia-Pacific Group (APG) on Money Laundering are now trying to address during its 18th annual gathering held in the Philippines.

"Casinos today are not only the physical buildings you can walk into and make a bet... there's also Internet betting," said Australian Federal Police Commissioner and APG chair Mick Keohy in a pre-gathering press conference. "We're looking at connecting a project on the amount of money that can potentially be laundered through casinos."

Money laundering is the act of concealing or misrepresenting cash or other property derived from criminal activities, and making it appear that it comes from a legitimate source.

"Casinos in most countries have a long-standing reputation where they do export money," Keohy said. "But we're looking into the business of the growth of online gambling technology platform that casinos operate."

His brevity of the APG conference said for out of nine special recommendations promulgated during the APG meetings included on methods used to finance terrorism.

"These include the use of alternative remittance systems... such as cash couriers, non-profit organizations, charities, and a number of other vehicles," Keohy said.

APG, which comprises 140 officials of the Asia-based Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering, is the Asia-Pacific region, was officially established in 1997 during a regional forum on dirty money in Bangkok.

Gerardo Lapina, executive director of the country's Anti-Money Laundering Council, said that measures were already being undertaken by local authorities to prevent money laundering and involve stakeholders from using local casinos, non-government organizations and people's organizations in financial funds.

Lapina said that although there are "no clear indicators" that these cash vehicles are being used to launder money, "domestic funds should be more sensitive," the APG is still investigating such way the establishment.

In the case of local casinos under the state-owned Philippine Amusement and Gaming Corp. (PAGCOR), there is a system of voluntary

FROM THE HISTORIC CITY OF PRAGUE, THE CZECH REPUBLIC

TANDUAY BRINGS HONOR TO THE COUNTRY ANEW

A Continuing Testament to the Excellence of the Filipino Spirit.

TANDUAY WINS 6 MORE MONDE SELECTION MEDALS, bringing to 117 the total number of international awards won to date.

Continuing its 152-year tradition of product excellence and superiority, Tanduay recently won 6 major international awards in the prestigious 2004 Monde Selection held in the city of Prague, in the Czech Republic.

Cosack Vodka, not surprisingly, won a gold medal for the fifth time in the Monde Selection which brings its total to eight medals won since 1981. Gla...Kapitan got a silver medal for the second time around. Medals were also awarded to four products which joined the Selection for the first time, Tanduay 1854 and Tanduay Primiero (Ron 8 Años) won gold medals, Bacchana Brandy got a silver medal while Gavarron Brandy garnered a bronze.

Cosack Vodka has been consistently winning medals in the Monde Selection since 1981. The new gold medal is Cosack's fifth gold in the eight medals it previously won and reinforces its consistent position as the "finest of Vodkas with a clean, crisp taste and warmth in its heart."

2004 Monde Selection Silver medalist Gla...Kapitan was again awarded another silver medal this year, having been rated highly for its clean taste, flavor and appeal.

1st time entrants Bacchana Brandy and Gavarron Brandy were also recognized as exceptional standouts in their category, having been awarded silver and bronze medals, respectively.

Monde Selection is an independent international institute based in Brussels, Belgium and considered as the oldest and most respected organization in the field of quality wine and liquor selections worldwide.

This year's awarding ceremony was held in historic Prague, in the Czech Republic, one of some of the oldest, most exquisitely architected cathedrals and castles in the world. The capital of the former Czechoslovakia, Prague was also the birthplace of one of the sons of the Philippine Revolution, Dr. Federico Ramos, hero, scholar and closest friend of the man he considered as "the greatest man the Malay race has ever produced," Dr. Jose P. Rizal.

Tanduay 1854, the commemorative rum introduced in 2004 to celebrate Tanduay's 150th anniversary, won a gold medal on its first entry into the competitive arena of Monde Selection. All the experts raved over the rich flavor of the rum which they say is "admirable buttressed, with high vanilla notes and light traces of eucalyptus." It has the "bouquet of oak elements" from 15 years of aging in old Kentucky Bourbon barrels, leading to a nicely balanced rum finish.

Tanduay Primiero (Ron 8 Años) won a gold medal on its first entry in Monde Selection and was described by the panel as "luscious and round on the palate" with a good intensity of flavor and a hint of sweetness in its bouquet.

Receiving the medals in behalf of Tanduay Distillers during the Monde Selection Awards Ceremony was R.E. Aron, Generalist R. Salas, Phil. Ambassador to the Czech Republic. On hand to present the medals were Mr. Patrick de Halluin, President of Monde Selection, Mr. Florent de Halluin, Vice President of Monde Selection and Mr. Joseph Desormere, President of the Tasting Board, Spirits and Liqueurs.

Ambassador Salas commended Tanduay for this achievement and for bringing more honor to the Philippines by showing to the world what the Filipino Spirit of creativity and excellence can achieve in a highly competitive global market. "These medals inspire us all to push ourselves to the limits and surpass all expectations of the world's diverse nations," Ambassador Salas stressed.

in even, giving a big boost to the Filipino Spirit of ingenuity, dedication and hard work.

Since its establishment in 1854, Tanduay has been synonymous with consistent excellence and product superiority. For more than 150 years now, the company has been producing quality liquor products that continue to gain recognition from prestigious, international award-giving bodies. Proof of this is the 117 awards the company has won so far - an overwhelming achievement in the liquor industry, or any industry for that matter.

Tanduay owes this tradition of excellence to the expert mentorship of its beloved Chairman, Dr. Lucio C. Tan and to its people who never stop to produce the best quality products at the most reasonable cost. Their devotion and never-ending quest for excellence build up year to year to adapt to changing times and growing expectations.

Beyond awards, however, Tanduay's excellence is also belated by the fact that it is the second largest seller of rum in the world. Currently, Tanduay has distribution channels in China, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Singapore, Thailand, Sapporo, Australia, the US Mainland, Canada, Guam, Hawaii and New Zealand.

As Tanduay continues to win international awards and enters other countries in the world, year after year, the company reinforces its commitment to solidify its position as a global brand and crystallizes its vision of "One World, One Spirit."

WITH ALL THE STRESS THAT you go through every day, balance is what everybody needs for health and sanity. How to achieve that balance is the big question.

Enter the adaptogens. SCENT IS A MAJOR player when it comes to trying to attract someone and feeling good about yourself. I have a lot of perfumes, but not all I smell good on. I guess it has something to do with body chemistry.

KNOCKOUT!

Rita Francisco-Prado

Recently, I was on the phone with my old college friend, One and I told her I have reached an "I don't know what to do about" stage. I have been and am still talking about it during the day, but sometimes having to write about it is difficult because it then becomes work.

In this tale, I should write like I was talking to her and not like I was writing for a magazine.

There are hundreds of perfumes available out there, and finding the right fragrance can be tricky. The best way is to test it first on your skin and leave it on for a while. When it comes to scents, the more layers the better, as the fragrance is always spread on you. It may smell good from the bottle, but it may not when you're wearing it.

This is something I have to take into account because I have been going to bed, how something smells from the bottle and even when used by friends, but then when I smell it when I finally use it. This is because not all scents, different body chemistry, and apparently some doesn't complement a lot of scents. I don't mind that, I mean, but some scents do.

When buying for perfume, I've noticed that when I try on scents, some, after a while my nose gets numb. However, trying on different scents is not helping. In my opinion, I believe we need to do a lot of testing, these were scents that were available to us in small to medium sizes to review our sense of smell, and they would.

The next time I go out to buy perfume, I promise to have other scents on hand to make sure I smell better in a little while. I may look foolish, but I will be confident I will have the same. I'll be bringing home.

Perfumes are expensive, so it is important to be a smart shopper. I suggest you go to the office to buy perfume, not a lot of people do it, there is a small book room, right?

My sense of the month is Sagittarius. I love it so much I want to make sure I smell it every time. In fact, I am a victim of over-spraying, which is not good. One day the people in the office were talking to me about it, they would have.

So far all scents have been good. I had sprayed on too much perfume. They had to tell me the scents for me to use, and I think they would have left me at Ayala Avenue for a while, they would have.

The best scents available for fragrance would be scents that are not too strong. Never place them under direct sunlight, which may cause oxidation.

A change of scents is the same, or when you have a new scent when you open it, means your perfume is deteriorating. There it goes.

Apply perfume directly on your pulse points. And having. Applying the same scent in different bottles is the best way to make the fragrance last the whole day.
